Consumer Member position on the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery (OMS) Board of Studies

The Royal Australasian College of Dental Surgeons (RACDS) is currently seeking expressions of interest for a Consumer Member position on the Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery (OMS) Board of Studies. The RACDS is a member-based organisation comprising of 3000+ dentists and surgeons from Australasia and beyond. The RACDS is the accredited body across Australia and New Zealand which regulates and administers the surgical education training program in OMS. The Community Member on the OMS Board of Studies will have a vital role in bringing the community expectations to the decision-making table. The OMS Board of Studies usually meet at least three times per annum. The appointment is a voluntary position. RACDS will reimburse travel and accommodation expenses for attending face-to-face meetings.

If you possess an interest in health and training, have an understanding of governance issues and have the ability to advocate for community interests, we encourage you to apply.

More information about the Community Member role can be found here.
